JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

Dear Alumni and Friends,

Long ago, the world ended, and myths began, on the Black Sea coast. After the Great Flood came Jason and the Argonauts, ancient Greek colonists, and Julius Caesar, who pronounced “Veni, Vidi, Vici” over the kings of Pontus. For millennia, it’s been a region of commingling for those whose cultures and ethnicities are not so easily defined on imperial maps.

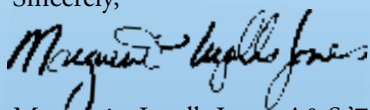

Please join us as we discover this fascinating region, so often neglected in our mental geographies, yet so crucial to the fortunes of world history. Twenty years after the end of the Cold War, we’ll gain extraordinary insights regarding the emerging cultures of Eastern Europe – even as we explore some of the ancient ruins and medieval churches that successive civilizations have layered in Romania, Ukraine, and Turkey.

Sailing from Athens, call first in Constanta, Romania’s main port, to explore the ruins of Tomis Danubius. Discover Ukraine’s Odessa, a city rich in 19th-century architecture, including the famous Potemkin Steps, as well as Yalta and Sevastopol, crucible of the Crimean War. Before concluding in Istanbul, sail to the seldom-visited north coast of Turkey to explore Trabzon, and the nearby Sumela Monastery, built in a splendid setting, as well as the soaring citadel of ancient Amasya.

Throughout your journey aboard the all-suite, 114-guest Corinthian II, delight in performances by legendary pianist/conductor and Johns Hopkins Peabody Conservatory faculty member Leon Fleisher, as well as his musical family. Also enjoy lectures and discussions with study leaders Fred McLaren and Maxim Tarnowsky.

The Black Sea has been a bridge between East and West for centuries. Please join us next summer as we explore this captivating region, enjoying incredible concerts and expert-led talks along the way.

Sincerely,

Marguerite Ingalls Jones, A&S '74, Bus '88

A Musical Voyage Led by Legendary Pianist and Peabody Faculty Member Leon Fleisher

Leon Fleisher's performances and recordings still stand as the gold standard for many of the great works of the piano literature and his personal story—losing the use of his right hand in the prime of his life, then, decades later, regaining its use—is as heartbreaking as it is life affirming. His story is the subject of the Academy Award-nominated documentary film, Two Hands.

Fleisher was one of a select group of classical artists to receive The Kennedy Center Honors and, in 2010, Doubleday published his memoir, My Nine Lives.

As pianist, conductor, and teacher he continues to share his original and compelling musicianship in music centers around the world. The current season includes performances in such cities as New York, Washington, DC, Chicago, Toronto, London, and Paris, among others. He tours the U.S. as soloist with the Irish Chamber Orchestra with “Prokofiev Concerto No. 4”, a work he will also play with Jurowski and the London Philharmonic, and he will conduct the Scottish Chamber Orchestra, Toronto Symphony, and Radio Philharmonique in Paris. Drawing upon the success of his five Carnegie Hall workshops, his memorable university masterclasses and residencies illuminate music for students here and abroad.

He will be joined by his wife, Kathy Jacobson-Fleisher, and his children, Deborah, Richard, Leah, Julian, and Paula, who will perform alongside him during the voyage.

Onboard Enrichment Program

As Captain Alfred McLaren has said, the Black Sea's “dark and mysterious nature has fascinated and challenged seagoing explorers, traders, and colonists from the earliest of times.” From his perspective as one of its more recent seagoing explorers, Captain McLaren will introduce us to the unique marine environment of the Black Sea and to the contributions of underwater archaeology to our knowledge of the peoples who have inhabited the region. Maxim Tarnowsky will focus his lectures on contemporary issues in this region of strategic importance, particularly on recent politics in the Crimea and on the exploitation of oil and the control of its delivery.

Study Leaders

Captain Alfred S. McLaren, U.S. Navy (Ret.), Ph.D., is an Arctic and deep-sea explorer, climate change research scientist, and former U.S. nuclear submarine commander.

He has used Russian MIR submersibles to dive to the wrecks of the Titanic and the German battleship Bismarck, and has lectured on voyages to most parts of the world. He holds advanced degrees in Physical Geology, Polar Studies, and International Affairs and has taught at the University of Colorado, Boulder, and at the U.S. Naval War College.

Maxim Tarnowsky is a specialist in Ukrainian language and history at the University of Toronto, where he has taught since 1987. An American citizen whose parents immigrated to the U.S. during World War II, he has a Ph.D. from Harvard and an undergraduate degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Professor Tarnowsky has taught a very wide range of graduate and undergraduate courses on Ukrainian literature and culture, from general historical surveys to specialized seminars on the literature of post-independence Ukraine.
