Dear Alumni & Friends:

Few experiences can match one of the world's most dramatic voyages, a cruise from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific through one of the greatest man-made wonders of the world, the Panama Canal. An engineering marvel when it opened one hundred one years ago, the 50-mile passage through the Panama Canal continues to astonish even the most veteran traveler. Experience firsthand the mighty locks that raise and lower ships 85 feet using no other power than the force of gravity, accomplishing in mere hours what would have taken a three-week circumnavigation of South America in years gone by.

We invite you to join us for this voyage of a lifetime featuring a passage through the historic Panama Canal, following its centennial anniversary, and the unspoiled rainforests of Costa Rica and Panama at the best time of year. During our comprehensive itinerary, visit two UNESCO World Heritage sites and Panama's ancient San Blas Islands, where the Guna Indians live much as they did centuries ago. Tour one of acclaimed architect Frank Gehry's newest designs, Panama City's Biodiversity Museum. Experience Panama's and Costa Rica's world-renowned and protected national parks—rainforests, islands and archipelagos that foster one of the most pristine ecosystems on our planet.

This exclusive offering features the Five-Star m.v. TERE MOANA, relaunched in 2013 under new ownership following a multimillion-dollar refurbishment. A true small ship, m.v. TERE MOANA carries only 90 guests and provides the best of deluxe accommodations, an intimate atmosphere to enjoy the camaraderie of fellow alumni and an all-inclusive cruise experience.

This is an extraordinary and exclusive opportunity available only to affinity travelers, and it is an excellent value. I encourage you to book now while space is available.

Cordially,

NATURE'S WONDERS

in the Heart of the Rainforest

Called the "coast of riches" by the Spanish conquistadors who discovered it in 1502, Costa Rica offers visitors incredibly beautiful, ecologically diverse and fascinating cultural experiences. More than 25% of the country is a national park, wildlife refuge or protected rainforest, earning Costa Rica the distinction of the greenest country in the world and the leading eco-tourism destination. Explore lush rainforests, walk along exquisite beaches and see a stunning palette of wildlife, where rare and endemic species flourish, including howler monkeys, colorful tree frogs and Costa Rica's 600 species of non-migratory birds. Costa Rica's national motto is "Pura vida!" which translates literally as "pure life" but is better expressed by the optimistic, carefree spirit and the smiling faces of the ticos (Costa Rican natives) who welcome you to this spectacular landscape.

San Blas Islands, Panama

Located on the Caribbean side of Panama, the sun-drenched San Blas Islands are an extraordinary testament to Panama's commitment to the indigenous Guna Indians, also known as the Kuna Indians, and their centuries-old language, customs and culture. Villagers live in typical thatched roof huts, barter or trade in fish and agricultural products and paddle dugout canoes, their main mode of transportation. Guna women continue to hand stitch traditional colorful molas (reverse appliqué panels) and wear winis, long strings of tiny beads wrapped around their forearms and legs in striking geometric patterns.

Panama City

Central America's most attractive capital city was founded in 1519 by Spanish explorers and rebuilt in the late 17th century.

Many historic edifices remain today within the designated UNESCO World Heritage site—Panama Viejo, the oldest European settlement in the Americas, and Casco Antiguo, with its cobblestone streets and its stunning 16th-century cathedral.

Adjacent to the Panama Canal, the Miraflores Locks Visitor Center provides an ideal opportunity to see how the locks operate. Nearby, the new Costa Rica is famous for its hundreds of stunning freshwater falls.

Biodiversity Museum, designed by architect Frank Gehry of Guggenheim fame, showcases the ecological significance of Panama's exotic flora and fauna.

Coiba National Park

Designated a UNESCO World Heritage site, Coiba National Park and its Special Zone of Marine Protection has emerged as a rich laboratory for studying coral, mammals and plants. In addition to 69 species of fish, humpback, orca, sperm and Cuvier's beaked whales are known to migrate through the marine park's perimeter.

Linked by an underwater mountain chain to the Galápagos, Granito de Oro is a small island within the park known as the "live aquarium of Coiba." Enjoy an afternoon snorkeling among its vast array of exquisite marine life including parrotfish and orange-sided triggerfish.

The largest island in Central America and once an isolated political prison, Isla Coiba today is a host of terrestrial wonders—untouched rainforest, rugged headlands, pristine white-sand beaches and mangrove thickets—the perfect environment for the evolution of new and endemic subspecies and for the preservation and protection of endangered species.

Golfo Dulce, Costa Rica

Located along the southern Pacific coast, this secluded natural wonderland was declared "one of the most biologically intense places on earth." Explore flora and fauna firsthand on the grounds of the Saladero Eco Lodge, an exclusive, pristine private property accessible only by boat and encompassing nearly 500 acres

Panama's Guna Indians proudly wear vibrant molas and wrap their legs with colorful and patterned beaded winis.

The 580-foot-long S.S. Kronland was the largest passenger ship of its time to transit the Panama Canal in 1915.

The Panama Canal 101st Anniversary

Experience firsthand the “greatest liberty ever taken with nature,” which cuts through the Great Continental Divide, spans 50 miles and took 33 years to complete at a cost of $400 million. This historic engineering feat changed the world, opening up new channels of international trade and allowing ships to travel between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans in a fraction of the time.

After France’s failed attempt to build a sea-level canal here in the 19th century and following the U.S. involvement in Panama’s independence, the project was turned over to the U.S. in 1903 and construction began during the presidency of Theodore Roosevelt. Among the 100,000 workers involved in the construction was French Post-Impressionist artist Paul Gauguin. When completed in 1914, the Panama Canal was considered one of the seven wonders of the modern world. Now, one hundred one years later, the Panama Canal is undergoing a $5.25 billion expansion, adding a wider third lane that can accommodate more than twice the cargo of the current lanes, maintaining its status as the gateway to the world.

Tens of thousands of workers labored and sacrificed to complete the largest engineering endeavor of the early 20th century.
