Dear Alumni & Friends:

Few experiences can match one of the world’s most dramatic voyages, a cruise from one ocean to another through one of the greatest man-made wonders of the world, the Panama Canal. An engineering marvel when it opened one hundred years ago, the 50-mile passage through the Panama Canal continues to astonish the most veteran traveler. Experience firsthand the mighty locks that raise and lower ships 85 feet using no other power than the force of gravity, accomplishing in mere hours what would have taken a three-week circumnavigation of South America in years gone by. Just as impressive is the cruise through the lush tropical jungle in the Gaillard Cut, a channel hewn through solid rock eight miles thick where the canal slices through the rugged Continental Divide.

We invite you to join us for this voyage of a lifetime featuring the historic Panama Canal during the 2014 centennial-year celebration and the unspoiled rainforests of Costa Rica at the best time of year. Further to our comprehensive itinerary, visit two UNESCO World Heritage sites and Panama’s ancient San Blas Islands, where the Kuna Indians live much as they did centuries ago. Tour one of acclaimed architect Frank Gehry’s newest designs, Panama City’s Biodiversity Museum. Experience Costa Rica’s world-renowned and protected national park—rainforests, islands and archipelagos that foster one of the most pristine ecosystems on our planet.

This exclusive offering features the five-star M.V. TERE MOANA, relaunched this year under new ownership following a multimillion-dollar refurbishment. A true small ship, M.V. TERE MOANA carries only 90 guests and provides the best of deluxe accommodations along with an intimate atmosphere to enjoy the camaraderie of fellow alumni.

This is an extraordinary and exclusive opportunity available only to affinity travelers, and it is an excellent value. I encourage you to book now while space is available.

in the Heart of the Rainforest

Called the “coast of riches” by the Spanish conquistadors who discovered it in 1502, Costa Rica offers travelers incredibly beautiful, ecologically diverse and fascinating cultural experiences. More than 25% of the country is a national park, wildlife refuge or protected rainforest, earning Costa Rica the distinction of the greenest country in the world and the leading eco-tourism destination. Explore lush rainforests, exquisite beaches and a stunning palette of wildlife, with hundreds of rare and endemic species, including 600 species of non-migratory birds. Costa Rica’s national motto is “Pura vida!” which translates literally as “pure life” but is better expressed by the optimistic, carefree spirit and the smiling faces of the ticos (Costa Rican natives) who welcome you to this spectacular landscape.

San José
The horticultural diversity of Costa Rica, the “Garden of the Americas,” is evident in the parks of this vibrant capital city. San José is also an interesting mix of architectural styles, including Spanish Colonial, Moorish and Modernist. Its National Theater is a regal Baroque edifice modeled on Milan’s La Scala. The National Museum’s exhibits feature impressive pre-Columbian Central American artifacts.

Manuel Antonio National Park
Experience an unparalleled diversity of wildlife in this lush tropical paradise, a captivating combination of rainforest, beaches and coral reefs, home to more than 100 species of mammals, almost 200 species of birds and various reptiles and amphibians. In this “Living Eden,” expert naturalists will help you spot colorful toucans, screeching howler monkeys, camouflaged iguanas, squirrel monkeys and rare and endangered species such as the scarlet macaw and quetzal, protected by law in this natural haven.

Quepos
Named for the native Quepo Indians and once known for its banana plantations, Quepos today is the gateway to Manuel Antonio National Park and recognized throughout the world for its high-quality palm oil and abundant marlin, sailfish and snapper sport fishing.

Osa Peninsula, Costa Rica
Located along the southern Pacific coast, this secluded natural wonderland was declared “one of the most biologically intense places on earth.” Central America’s largest virgin lowland tropical rainforest, the Osa Peninsula’s rugged natural splendor is home to rare and endangered species, including the harpy eagle, spider monkey and three-toed sloth. In Casa Orquídeas, a stunning, maze-like botanical garden of over 100 species of orchids, bromeliads, heliconias and edible plants, visitors can observe colorful toucans, scarlet macaws and jewel-hued hummingbirds.

Coiba National Park
Designated a UNESCO World Heritage site, Coiba National Park and its Special Zone of Marine Protection has emerged as a rich laboratory for studying coral, mammals and plants. In addition to 69 species of fish, humpback, orca, sperm and Cuvier’s beaked whales are known to move through the marine park’s perimeter, and large marlin may be seen leaping from the water.

The largest island in Central America and once an isolated prison, Isla Coiba hosts terrestrial wonders—untouched rainforest, rugged headlands, pristine white-sand beaches and mangrove thickets—the perfect environment for the evolution of new and endemic subspecies and for the protection of endangered species.

Panama City
Central America’s most attractive capital city was founded in 1519 by Spanish explorers and rebuilt in the late 17th century. Many historic structures remain today within the designated UNESCO World Heritage site—Panama Viejo, the oldest European settlement in the America’s, and Casco Antiguo, with its cobbled streets and spectacular ruins of 16th-century cathedrals.
Near the Panama Canal, the Miraflores Locks Visitor Center provides an ideal observation area and opportunity to see how the locks operate, and the new Biodiversity Museum, designed by architect Frank Gehry of Guggenheim fame, showcases the ecological significance of Panama’s exotic flora and fauna.

San Blas Islands, Panama

Located on the Caribbean side of Panama, the sun-drenched San Blas Islands are an extraordinary testament to Panama’s commitment to the indigenous Kuna Indians and their centuries-old way of life, including language, customs and culture. Villagers live in typical thatched-roof huts, barter or trade in fish and agricultural products and paddle dugout canoes, their main mode of transportation. Kuna women continue to hand-stitch traditional colorful molas, reverse appliqué panels, and to wear wini, long strings of tiny beads wrapped around their forearms and legs in striking geometric patterns.

Cloud Forests and Volcanoes in Costa Rica Pre-Program Option

A medley of Costa Rica’s diverse biospheres, this spectacular extension features a walk across hanging bridges in the mysterious cloud forest, a dip in soothing geothermal springs nestled among powerful volcanoes and a taste of the rich culture—coffee, chocolate and historic San José. Accommodations are for two nights in the ideally located Hotel Royal Corin and one night in the hacienda-style Costa Rica Marriott Hotel San José.

Panama’s Natural World Post-Program Option

The perfect complement to Panama’s man-made wonder is the country’s natural beauty. Enjoy some of the best tropical bird-watching in the Americas in Soberania National Park, home to more than 400 species, and cruise on the Chagres River through the rainforest to learn more about Panama’s indigenous people. Accommodations for two nights are in the comfortable Panama Marriott.

Pre- and Post-Program Options are available at additional cost. Details will be provided with your reservation confirmation.
The five-star M.V. TERE MOANA entered service in 2013 under new ownership following a multimillion-dollar refurbishment. This exclusively chartered, deluxe, 90-passenger vessel fits the profile of small ship cruising perfectly and can cruise into ports inaccessible to larger ships.

Eight of the five-star, ocean-view, spacious accommodations have a private veranda. Each stateroom features a large picture window, private marble- and teak-appointed bathroom with shower, one queen bed or two twin beds, luxurious European linens and amenities, individual climate control, robes and cotton slippers, satellite television, minibar, safe and hair dryer. Complimentary welcome flowers and fruit are provided in each stateroom upon arrival.

The elegant L’Etoile dining room and La Veranda restaurant accommodate all guests at a single, unassigned seating, and an attentive staff serves international cuisine featuring fresh local ingredients. Early-risers’ coffee, buffet breakfast, buffet lunch, afternoon tea and dinner are served daily. Enjoy indoor or outdoor dining in La Veranda for breakfast and lunch and a culinary creation from a consulting two-star Michelin-rated chef offered nightly in L’Etoile at dinner. Complimentary room service and wellness and vegetarian meal options are available. Complimentary alcoholic and nonalcoholic beverages are served throughout the cruise.

The inviting and spacious public areas are tastefully appointed and include a large lounge, where a program of enriching lectures is held, two bars, comfortable library with computers, wireless Internet hotspots, spa, boutique and outdoor swimming pool.

The M.V. TERE MOANA’s English-speaking crew provides courteous, professional service and sails with an onboard physician. There is one crew member for every 1.5 guests. The ship has an elevator.

In February 1915, the 580-foot-long S.S. Kroonland was the largest passenger ship to date to transit the Panama Canal.

The Panama Canal 100th Anniversary

Opened in 1914, the “greatest liberty ever taken with nature” cost over $400 million and took 33 years to complete. Spanning 50 miles and cutting through the Great Divide, this historic engineering feat changed the world, opening up new channels of international trade, allowing ships to travel between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans in a fraction of the time. The French attempted to build a sea-level canal in the late 19th century, but lack of engineering expertise and disease halted the project.

After extensive political discourse and U.S. involvement in Panama’s independence, the project was turned over to the U.S., who saw the canal’s strategic advantages, and construction began in 1903, during the presidency of Theodore Roosevelt. Almost 100,000 workers were involved, among them French Post-Impressionist artist Paul Gauguin. When completed in 1914, it was considered one of the seven wonders of the modern world. One hundred years later, the Panama Canal has undergone a $5.25-billion expansion, adding a third lane for cargo traffic and maintaining its status as the gateway to the world.

Tens of thousands of laborers worked—and sacrificed—to complete the largest engineering endeavor of the time.
